

FIGHT OF DAVIS IS FOR HONESTY NOMINEE PLANS AN INTENSIVE DRIVE OF U. S. NEW FIRES MENACE WEST COAST HOSTILE TROOPS CLASH FLAMES INVADE BIG TRACTS OF TIMBER LANDS

In Acceptance Address, He Scores Republicans For Corruption in Administration and Favoritism to Privileged Classes in Legislation.

(By The Associated Press.)
CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 12.— Having sounded the battle cry of his party, John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, prepared today to begin an intensive drive over the country.

In a series of speeches, the first of which will be delivered at Columbus, Ohio, August 26, Mr. Davis will treat in more detail those subjects which he announced in his acceptance address here last night he views as the outstanding issues of the campaign.

First among these is honesty in government. The nominee devoted a major portion of his first address—delivered in a downpour of rain—to a discussion of the issue. He laid full responsibility upon the Republican party for corruption in office and charged that some of those in high places in the administration had made an effort to weaken the effect of the exposures at Washington by crying out not against the guilty but against those who opposed them. "I charge the Republican party with corruption in administration," Mr.
Davis declared, "with favoritism to privileged classes in legislation. I also charge it with division in council and impotence in action."

Passing to a discussion of economies, Mr. Davis accused the administration in offering the Mellon tax bill
with a desire to favor a few possessors
of swollen incomes and declared that in the enactment of the Finance Bill Cumber act there had been an unblinking return to the evil days of rewarding party support and political contributions with legislative favoritism.

The administration's foreign policy
was denounced by the candidate who declared that in this, too, there had appeared the symptoms of a creeping parasitism. He promised that if he became President of the United States, America would sit as an equal among equals whenever she sat at all in conference with the other nations
of the world.

With respect to the league of nations he said the Democratic candidate would not accept the unanimous resolution of the league of nations as an expression of popular will, that the league is a closed institution so far as America is concerned.
He declared the day could and would come when this great question would finally be lifted entirely above the plans of parties and the influence of the press and public approval would find means to make itself heard. The world court was endorsed and Mr.
Davis declared he deemed it the duty of the chief executive to co-operate "officially" by every means at his disposal.

DEVILS FOOLED

Women are of no importance in China as they believe it is not worth a devil's bother about them. So elaborate precautions are taken to disguise small boys as girls to keep the evil spirits away. Formerly one little pigtail was sufficient. But the devils seem to have caught on and now the boys appear in fancy coffurs, earrings and bracelets to complete their disguise.

Freights Crash Near Roanoke

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 12.—The collapse of freight rates in the Virginia Railway system has been cleared today of wreckage resulting from a collision of two freight trains 20 miles east of Roanoke yesterday. It was announced at offices here. The cause
had not been officially ascertained.
Both trains were coming east. The rear train struck and demolished the front of the front train. Engineer Palmer and Fireman Wayland
of the rear train were slightly injured by jumping when they saw that a collision was inevitable. No one else was hurt.

TELL-TALE ENVELOPE LEADS SKY-LIGHT THIEF TO JAIL

The Bertillon system of finger-printing proved its definite worth in the detection of crime in an outstanding case here yesterday when George Scott alias "Little" Scott was arrested for the recent series of skylight robberies and later confessed to a series of officers of the police department convinced him that they had the "dead wood" of him. Scott picked up as a suspect by officers determined to try out the finger print system here, was arrested at Campbell's drug store on Crashad street. Bendall's drug store also on Crashad
and, more recently The Real Tailor's establishment on Main Street and J.
C. McFall's Drug Store on North Union street.

Officers who played important parts
in the arrest of Scott, a former penitentiary convict, were Police Detectives J. N. Campbell and J. C. Lewis.
Officers W. T. Kessler, and O. T.
Cook and Police Sergeant Edward H. Holt, a private investigator who operates with the local police department played perhaps the chief role in actually identifying the negro by his finger prints.

The story of the denouement is long but nevertheless interesting. The four skylight robberies at the hotel
here, did not result in large plunder being secured. The ingenuity of the thief however, had the whole police department on its mettle for they recognized a shrewd and crafty detective. The detective was quick to investigate and have practically devoted their time, with the assistance of others, in combing the purloins of the business and industrial section during the midnight hours and later on the watch for all late travelers.
On one occasion they thought they had the thief trapped but he eluded about eight officers.

discernible. It was M. Bertillon, attache of the Paris Prefecture of Police and one of the mostly highly organized bodies of crime detectors in the world, who many years ago discovered that these lines are different in every human being and are never duplicated. It is this recognized principle which makes the developed finger-print so highly useful in the pursuit of the felon.

With the four finger prints in the local index clearly defined, they were compared with those of men whose prints are included in the comparatively small file at the local police department. This was a vain quest.
Then, Police Detective Campbell undertook a process of elimination. He secured the names of men now in Danville who might be guilty of such crimes and among this number that of Scott stood out boldly. It was this negro who three or four years ago was sent to the State penitentiary for two years for robbing M. Kopien's store.
Made by the skylight, Campbell picked up Scott yesterday on Crashad street and carried him to the police department. His fingers were impressed upon a piece of white paper
and Holt with a camel hair brush covered the spot touched. The moisture of the finger resulted in the minute particles
of graphite clinging, thus clearly defining every line in his fingers. The check-up with the finger prints left in the talloring store revealed seven points of comparison under the maximizing glass and this was so compelling evidence that Scott was charged with the crime. It was then, the police say, that Scott confessed the four offenses and expressed readiness to pay the price.

Whether there is any relationship between these four robberies and four entries made of recent date into four residences is doubtful though the police are not satisfied and may succeed within a few days in clearing up
this point.

On Saturday night's thief gained access to the home of Walter Schultz on Mohore street by making a hole in the wire screen over a window and opening it. He reached in and secured
Mr. Schultz's trousers and secured a pocketbook containing between $25
and $30. A negro was seen Sunday night in the vicinity of Mrs. A. F.
Johnson's home on Paxton street and
people in the house heard footsteps
but the intruder escaped without stealing anything. Another robbery included that at the home of Walter
R. Tuden on Clifton street and Mrs.
R. T. Vaden on Girard street.

TOWN TOPICS

L. W. McDaniel charged with several offenses in connection with the accident on South Main street extension which resulted in injuries to G.
W. Yates and W. D. Lewis, was released on $1,500 bail yesterday. His case has been set for August 26. Mr.
Yates recently was discharged from the hospital. His right arm and shoulder, both of which were broken
in the automobile mishap are mending and the scalp wound over the right eye is also healing though a disfiguring scar will remain. W. D.
Lewis who also was injured, has also recovered.

City Jailor Harper Chandler returned last night from Richmond
where he went Sunday evening to carry John Dix whose appeal to the Supreme court on his conviction for violating the Mapp act was recently denied by that court. Dix must serve three years for selling two young men
a small quantity of liquor. The sentence is one of the heaviest for this particular offense recorded here of recent years. The city jailor reports that Dix took the situation with his usual philosophic calm.

Acting Purchasing Agent B. A. Pollock was last night authorized by the council to purchase equipment for the office of Mayor Wooding which is being prepared for his occupancy in the Municipal building. The material will cost about $100.

E. G. Moseley today received a communication from B. F. Moomaw, secretary of the Roanoke Chamber of Commerce pledging the best efforts of that organization to make the annual outing of the Cabell Street Sunday school on September 4, a complete success.

The monthly meeting of the directors of the Community Welfare association will be held at 5 o'clock this evening at the organization's offices in the Municipal building. The report of the executive secretary will show that $667.39 was paid out during the month in outside relief. During that period 210 calls to the were recorded and 34 visits were made to various homes by attaches
of the organization performing helpful service.

Between three and four hundred negroes came to Danville yesterday
on an excursion to Winston-Salem,
N. C. A Brunswick stew in Moseley's Bottom was a feature of the day's event, the police report also some dancing at such emporiums that make a specialty of this. The police report that a crowd of negroes who came with the party spent the morning at the depot and then came to the city with sister and brethren fishing in Dan river and caught a cat fish.
Officers at the depot last night when the train left, say all but three went home. Two of the numbers who remained were very much interested in the train because the third was admitted to the train because of his antics on the way up here.

A civil service examination for clerks and carriers will be held here
on September 6th. It was announced this morning by the local postoffice authorities. The examinations will be conducted in the local postoffice building.

SUPPLY SHIP OF GLOBE AVIATORS REACHES PORT

Gertrud Rask Breaks Free of Ice Pack and Arrives at Greenland Coast

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 12.—
The Gertrud Rask, Danish supply ship of the American round-the-world aviators, arrived last night at Angmagssalik on the east coast of Greenland. Major Clarence E. Crum-rine reported this morning.

The ship, which broke free yesterday of the ice pack in which it had been imprisoned since last Tuesday,
found the harbor of Angmagssalik
clear of ice and weather conditions
generally improved.

On receiving news from the Gertrud Rask, Lieutenant Lowell H.
Smith, commander of the flight, announced that he and Lieutenant Erik J. Neilsen would leave Reykjavik on the next lap of their trip on Thursday if weather permitted the takeoff.

The start will not be made before Thursday because it will take a day for Lieutenant Lachard B. Schulze to prepare mailings at Angmagssalik
and to return to the water of the bay here. Lieutenant Neilsen's plane which was pulled onto land after the flier arrived here.

EGYPTIAN AND BRITISH MEN STAGE BATTLE

England Sends Re-Inforcements as Result of Disturbance, Which Egyptians Started.

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Aug. 12.—The British government has sent a battalion of troops to reinforce the British garrison in the Sudan as the result of a clash between Egyptian and British soldiers at Athara following disturbances in which the Egyptian troops are said to have attacked the British with bricks at their barracks.

According to British official dispatches the trouble started at Khartoum Saturday when military cadets who paraded with rifles refused to give up their arms upon returning to their school. The cadets were surrounded and arrested by British troops.

Yesterday the Egyptian railway battalion at Athara made a demonstration after which the Egyptian soldiers were confined to their barracks
from which they attempted to escape.
When they attacked the British troops with bricks and other missiles,
the British soldiers fired upon them,
causing 19 casualties.

A minor demonstration at Port Sudan was dispersed without trouble.
The disturbances in the Sudan are likely to have a disquieting political effect upon the forthcoming negotiations in London of Said Zakiul Pasha, the Egyptian premier, according to British officials who assert there is no thought of the British government giving up the Sudan.
As those reported will only make more difficult the estimate of the Sudan's status in relation to Egypt and Great Britain.

TEN ARE KILLED

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Ten Egyptian
soldiers were killed and nine wounded in a collision with British troops
at Athara following disturbances in which the Egyptian troops attacked the British with bricks at their barracks,
says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch
from Cairo under yesterday's date.

Danville Band Is Making Good at Ft. Monroe

The Coast Artillery band from Danville now at Fortress Monroe in annual encampment is making good and has won a warm reception. The local organization is being given prizes and guard mount playing its important part in keeping up the spirit of the various organizations now on wartime footing on the coast. A. A. Hall, leader of the band, contributes the spirit of
as the local band is leading.
"We arrived at Fort Monroe at about scheduled time, August 1st, and went into barracks quarters to sleep
on real springs and mattresses, but the next day real army life began and convicted them of a feather bed job, or a man's vacation. We arise about 5 a.
m. and play for reveille at 5:55 and next we eat breakfast at 6:30. Usually we have a two hours band rehearsal play for guard mount and sometime for a regimental parade,
and next for retreat at 5:30 p. m.
with supper at 6:00 p. m., which ends
the day's duties.

The fore part of last week the company was taken out on the pistol
range for practice and with one day
practice they began record shooting.
Thursday night we gave a concert
at the Post Band stand at Old Point Comfort and the band never before played quite so well as at this concert.

"Now it is not all hard grind in the camp, in fact, the boys are having plenty of diversion and recreation.
Fishing, bathing, and seeing the sights are interwoven with the camp duties. Sunday was a day of real outing for the boys. Because of his appreciation of the splendid work of the boys, Col. Milton, conferred a special honor upon the band boys by making special arrangements with the Fort Commander for an ocean trip on the government tug, the Benbow, at 3:30 p. m. taking our dinner, fishing tackle and instruments and took a ride of about five hours duration. We went out on Hampton Roads past Ocean View out to Cape Henry into the Atlantic ocean seeing all the sights of interest along the cruise and on our return we anchored at Ocean View for dinner and to fish."

Expecting Series of Consolidations

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Wall street expects a series of consolidations of joint stock land banks within the next few months because of the unhealthy competition reported among some of the present security institutions in which the public has invested about $384,000,000 through the purchase of bonds. To date the banks are reported to have loaned about $413-000,000 to farmers.

FIRST UNDER LAW

Out of the first 44 couples seeking marriage licenses in New Orleans under the new eugenics law, only one prospective bridegroom had thought to obtain the necessary medical certificate. He was "MEXICO" Govin who is shown above with his bride, Miss Elizabeth Oiler. Postponed weddings were rife while near-
brides waited for the near-bride-
grooms to see the doctor.

VA. BOYS WILL FIRE BIG GUNS THIS AFTERN'N

Making Good Showing at Fort—Attended Big Dance
Last Night

FORT MONROE, Va., Aug. 12.— Virginia guardsmen training here will get their chance at the big twelve-inch guns this afternoon, as a result of which all of them are on their toes this morning despite the fact that many were out about three-fourths of the night at a dance given by the Virginia Military Institute cadets and alumni on the peninsula.

One pounder was used by the guardsmen yesterday and with great success, some remarkable hits being scored according to those in charge of the work. The big gun practice will continue through tomorrow and every gun crew will be given an opportunity to show what it can do.

Stationary and moving targets will be used by the guardsmen and rivalry between the batteries is keen, so keen
in fact that some of those who lose have been faithful and active and that so far as is humanly possible all of the
preliminary work has been staged.

At last night's meeting it was decided to postpone the regular monthly meeting of the legion from Friday
night of this week to Friday night
August 22nd when it will be on the eve
of the convention by which time the
final check up from speakers and
other details will be possible.

Rail Company Sues Woman For 14c

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 12.—The Virginia Railway and Power Company has taken a lawsuit in its arrow in the Civil Circuit court against Mrs. M. Manuell, 828 Olney road, for 14 cents, an amount alleged to be due for street car fare.
The suit, said to be unparalleled
here in amount and basis, resulted from the alleged failure of Mrs.
Manuell's son to pay street car fare
on a recent trip from Norfolk to Ocean View. The conductor on the trolley car insisted the boy was over five years of age, while his mother insists he is only four. State laws require the traction company to transport children under the age of five free, provided they are accompanied by an adult.

JAIL BULL DOG DETECTS LEWIS' WORK ON BARS

Gilbert Lewis Uses Crude
Tool in Attempt to Carve
Way to Liberty

Gilbert Lewis serving 90 days time
for stealing money from a news vendor, was detected late last night by Jailor Nelson Dixon endeavoring to cut his way out of the jail room on the lower floor detected by chain gang prisoners. Lewis was recently sent to the roads but for some reason was returned. Early this morning Jailor Dixon's pet bull dog became nervous and restless emitting a low growl
from time to time. Dixon knowing that something was wrong in the jail followed the dog to the cell door and could hear the faint rasp of metal against metal. Then the sound stopped, the presence of the jailor being apparently discovered. Dixon remained watchfully waiting throughout the night and this morning made an investigation. One of the bars covering a glass window removed by the jailor in order that they might have air at night, was found to be partially severed. None of the prisoners at first would admit responsibility for the condition of the bar but Lewis finally made an admission and behind a water pipe a table knife was found. This has been crudely sharpened and also "nicked" so as to resemble a saw. The metal was sufficiently high tempered to cut into the bar. The jailor assumes that Lewis secured the knife while at a dance given by Virginia Military Institute cadets and alumni on the peninsula. Postponed weddings were rife while near-
brides waited for the near-bride-
grooms to see the doctor.

Surf Victims Taken Home

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 12.—The bodies of Miss Clara Rudd, 22, and J. W. Maucher, 23 of Lynchburg, who were drowned while in bathing
at Ocean View Sunday were sent to erals will be held tomorrow afternoon.

The young man and girl were spending the week-end at Ocean View. Miss Rudd had come here from Washington, D. C. Friday afternoon and was stopping at a cottage. Mr.
Maucher came here with friends Saturday night.

How the double tragedy occurred remains a mystery.

PESTS AT WORK

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., Aug. 12.—Hordes of timber-killing insect pests are ravaging the great forests of Yellowstone National Park.
The more serious of the pests is the spruce budworm, which is at work in the Clear Fork of the Snake River.
Forest rangers took charge of the invasion and put a force of 200 men to fighting the fire.

APPROACHING CONVENTION FINDS DANVILLE POST ALL SET FOR VIRGINIA'S BEST

The chairman of the fifteen American Legion Convention committee meeting on the call issued recently by Waverly H. Cousins, post commander
last night, gave a good account of all the arrangements for the three day event which opens here one week from next Monday. The reports made indicated that each committee has been faithful and active and that so far as is humanly possible all of the
preliminary work has been staged.

At last night's meeting it was decided to postpone the regular monthly
meeting of the legion from Friday
night of this week to Friday night
August 22nd when it will be on the eve
of the convention by which time the
final check up from speakers and
other details will be possible.

Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, of Alexandria wrote today saying she would be here for the event. Alvin Owsley, Daniel who was on the program
and who now has advised the Post
that the pressing demands on his time
by the special session of the North Carolina legislature makes it impossible for him to be here. The committee on arrangements has decided to substitute his appearance with an evening of athletics when some fast boxing and wrestling bouts will be seen and a "battle royal". The place has not been determined as to tomorrow or the next day definitely from
J. J. Wicker, state commander of Richmond who is going to see General Pershing in New York today and to remind him of his acceptance of the Danville engagement. The leader of the "E. F." only recently returned from France and apparently has not had time to answer Mr. Cousins' last letter.

A sample of the official badge to be worn by all delegates was exhibited at the meeting last night. This is composed of a gold name-plate with space for a card bearing the delegate's name. Underneath is a red, white and blue ribbon and below that is a wrought tobacco leaf in the center of which is found the national American Legion emblem. The Danville Post members will be distinguished by additional ribbons of white bearing the word "Welcome".

The Legion parade, always a feature of the convention, has already been arranged for by Col. Sidney W.
Minor has charge of this important event. The present plan is to assemble the "Buddies" at the corner of Lower Main and Bridge streets at seven o'clock on the evening of the second day, August 25th. The line of march will be in Main street out West Main to the Fair Grounds. The gates of the grounds will remain closed until the legionnaires have been seated, then ticket holders will be admitted and the general public to such an extent as will be permitted.

Danville's Boy Scouts will be fully mobilized on that day and they will line the parade route, each one bearing a torch which will illuminate the spectacle. There will be two or more bands. The Schuchfeld Brass Band, one of the finest in the South, will give a concert at the Fair Grounds
before the speaking event. General Pershing is to introduce Alvin Owsley who will make the chief address of the evening. This will be terminated with probably the most elaborate display of fireworks which Danville has ever seen. George P. Geoghegan, Sr., a crone in these matters, has let
the contract to the International Fireworks Company and John Serpico, its president, has consented to be here
person which should assure an unusually fine exhibition.

Eleven Major Fires Raging In Four Pacific States— Thousands of Acres Burned— Hundreds Fight Fires.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Aug. 12.— Eleven major forest fires, blazing in California, Oregon and Washington today continued to burn
into virgin timber and one was eating its way along the scenic banks of the Merced river towards Yosemite National Park.

The Merced river fire, which was five miles from El Portal entrance to the Yosemite Valley, is being fought by 200 civilians and 150 convicts from a road camp nearby. The fire already has burned over 12,000 acres, including 4,000 heavily timbered lands in the Sierra National forest.

At Riverside, Calif., one hundred men are fighting a forest fire which has burned in the San Jacinto mountains for the last week.

Heavy showers lessened the fire hazard in some parts of the mountain range, although no rain fell near
the scene of the present fire.

In Oregon the forest fire situation within the White Mountain National forest and adjoining timber assumed
a serious aspect when five new fires were reported to the offices of the forest supervisor.

Probably the most serious of these
is situated in an accessible region,
four miles north of Anthony Lake
and about 20 miles north of Baker. All the fires are believed to have been caused by lightning.

In Washington forest fires in northern Whatcom and Kittitas counties and Rainier and Chelan national forests were reported.

In the Chelan national forest, what was reported to be the largest blaze
of the season in this district, a fire
was burning on Trout creek, a tributary of the west fork of the Metallum. It already has burned over 600 acres of timber.

Power and telephone lines, including lines of The Associated Press,
were put out of commission for a few hours yesterday when the forest fire near the Nevada-California line jumped the Truckee river.

The fire, which had been sweeping down the Truckee river canyon toward the little lumber of Verdi last afternoon, swerved last night and was heading for Crystal Peak, on the side of which lies a valuable timber.
Forest rangers took charge of the invasion and put a force of 200 men to
fighting the fire.

FATHER OF MRS. CROWELL DIES IN JACKSON, MISS.

A telegram received in this city last night by Mrs. Marie Moore Crowell, wife of A. B. Crowell, conveying the shocking information of the sudden death of her father, Mr. Moore, at his home in Jackson, Miss. Few details of the distressing news were available last night and Mrs. Crowell was waiting for more definite information before beginning her journey to the sorrow-stricken home of her father.

Mrs. Moore, wife of the deceased, and their daughter, Miss Love Moore, are widely known in Danville having frequently visited here, but Mr. Moore was not so well known here. It was expected last night that Mrs. Crowell would leave for Mississippi as soon as informed of the plans for the funeral of her father. Meanwhile, widespread sympathy is being expressed and manifested for her in her heavy bereavement.

Council Adopts Street Program; Farewells Said

The August council meeting held last night—the last regular meeting of the present body—was marked by official farewells and the thoughtful expressions which come from men who have labored together for four years on intricate problems and who regret to see the official ties broken. Two more meetings of the body will probably be held this month but they will not have the same formality that the last regular meeting had. George Geoghegan and W. Tredway Gravelly the two retiring members and both made appropriate remarks expressing their regrets at having to terminate associations which have grown more intimate as the council term neared its close.

F. W. Townes—already spoken of in public gossip as possibly the next president of the city council—also had a few words to say. He temporarily took charge of the meeting as the roll was being called and presented a resolution expressing the deep appreciation of the council for the service and fidelity of the retiring president, Col. B. Carrington and expressing abiding thanks for his leadership. This resolution was adopted by a rising vote. Col. Carrington responded briefly expressing appreciation for the vote of confidence and stating that the mistakes he may have made were of the mind rather than of the heart. He said that he had tried as a presiding officer to deal with every body fairly and squarely.

The council also was mindful last night of approaching termination of a long term of service; as police judge by Mayor Harry Wooding. Col. Carrington called attention to this and said that he thought that the council should take notice of the fact that it was a body of men who had been as faithful a servant to the corporation as has been Mayor Wooding for thirty-two years and he thought it was proper for the council to express its appreciation to and respect for him. Referring to the judicial aspects of the mayor's long magistracy he said that he felt convinced that he has rendered decisions as his conscience and his knowledge of the law dictated. Councilman Gardner offered as a motion that a set of engrossed resolutions be prepared expressing the sentiments of Col. Carrington and that these be signed by the city's official body and forwarded in due time to Captain Wooding.

About the most important business done by the council last night was the adoption of a street improvement programme which will consume $127,000, some of the work to be done this fall. This work, outlined in a resolution which will consume the entire $100,000 made available through the recent bond issue provided there is no legal hitch, the remaining $27,000 to come out of the general fund. The streets decided on the character of their paving and the approximate costs are as follows:

Washington St.: Resurface present cobble paving with sheet asphalt, $12,615.00; Gray St.: Holbrook Ave. to Main resurface cobble with sheet asphalt, $9,450.00; Spring St.: Union St. to Main resurface cobble with sheet asphalt, $1,750.00; Clayborne St.: Henry to Church, asphalt concrete, $8,600.00; James St.: N. Main to Clayborne, asphalt concrete, 15 feet wide one side, $7,900.00; Main St.: Clayborne to Jefferson, asphalt concrete, 15 feet wide, down center, $6,500.00; Franklin St.: 400 feet S. Berryman Ave., asphalt concrete, $4,000.00; Paxton St.: Jefferson to Berryman, asphalt concrete, $1,750.00; Berryman Ave.: Asphalt concrete 18 feet wide, $5,300.00; Colquhoun St.: Resurface cobble and pave dirt section, $10,000.00; Ross St.: Asphalt concrete, $4,000.00; Union St.: Resurface with sheet asphalt, $13,500.00; Deboe St.: Resurface with sheet asphalt, $1,750.00; Girard St.: N. Main to Sheppard Ave., asphalt concrete, $18,600.00; Ridge St.: Main to George resurface with sheet asphalt, $4,000.00; Loyal St.: Craghead to Union, resurface with sheet asphalt, $1,625.00; Patton St.: Pave full width from Union to fire station and 18 feet wide from there to Ridge sheet asphalt over cobble, $3,050.00. Total cost, $127,699.00.

The programme was adopted and it was the sense of the council that the incoming council would be obligated to carry out its provisions.

Councilman Carter alone opposed the programme. He insisted that Henry street from Clayborne to the top of the hill be resurfaced with asphalt. He said the residents of that section had been clamoring for improvement for thirty years, that they voted for the bond issue several years ago on the understanding that the improvement would be done and again last June they supported it in the hope of achieving their desires. Chairman Townes of the Public Works Committee supported the committee's report as did Councilman Gardner.

The finance committee report included a review of the recent water situation answering in a measure the complaints of low pressure. It is admitted that the leaking main on the river bed caused a falling off in pressure throughout the city of ten pounds but that since the leak was stopped, that normal pressure had been restored and that complaints have ceased. The report also recommended a leave of absence of 30 days for Frank Talbot, city engineer, who was made of certain officials who will act for him while he is away. Berkeley Pollock becomes acting purchasing agent and executive of the water and gas departments while E. C. Brantley, superintendent of the electric system will have charge of the electrical works.

Twelve hundred dollars was appropriated to meet the expense of renovating the Municipal Hall and an ordinance was adopted defining more specifically the duties of the auditor who is directed to prepare the budget each year and given the right to examine the accounts of each city department.

Action taken last night by the council on recommendations made by the three committees included the following:

Appropriated $25.50 to pay for fence posts at the Grove street cemetery.

Appropriated $2,000 to meet the salary of the police justice.

Appropriated $1,500 to meet the mayor's salary.

Adopted an ordinance providing the issue of a $10,000 bond to meet requests for sidewalk improvements.

Relieved the Southern Railway Company of the necessity of maintaining a railway watchman at the North Danville crossing between the hours of 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. Heard a request from the welfare committee that tin receptacles for waste paper be placed in the business section of the city and an ordinance was passed to that effect. The city engineer, R. K. Linnville, whose attention was directed to this said that sweepings from stores after the street has been cleaned and the refuse taken to the dump, flying off the garbage trucks were factors in causing this complaint. This being handled by another department. The council last night appropriated

CAN YOU SOLVE POLITICAL CLAIMS?

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—If La Follette and Wheeler get as many Democratic votes as the Republicans predict, and if they get as many Republican votes as the Democrats say they will, then the Progressives stand a first-class chance to win.

However, the Republicans deny that the Progressive will draw very heavily from their tickets; the Democrats deny that the Independents will draw very heavily from theirs.

So there you are. Never probably was there so doubtful a presidential campaign as this year's.

The 1912 fight was a triangle, but the third element which entered into it was the result of a one-party split. This year the third element is made up of candidates from both the old parties.

In Iowa there is talk of the candidacy of John F. Adams, recently chairman of the Republican National Committee—as an independent against Senator Brookhart, but really with Republican support.

Republicans, however, are optimistic and on the basis of their definite unqualified claim, to say nothing of that for which they hope, they would have 281 electoral votes, or 15 more than necessary for a "majority over all."

Democrats, however, claim 189 electoral votes at the start. With such a nucleus they would win if they could capture New York and one other state.

The Progressives claim ten states for a total of 80 electoral votes and have great hopes of landing five more states. In the remainder of the country they make no concessions to either of the old-line parties whatever, simply saying they will surprise them both everywhere.

At all events, the element of doubt is very large.

Take the following list of the states' electoral votes and apply them to the accompanying map. You will then see what claims are made by the various political groups. Your guess on a winner will probably be as close as the other fellows'.

The states' electoral votes are:

Alabama	12	Nebraska	3
Arizona	3	Nevada	3
Arkansas	6	N. Hampshire	3
California	13	New Jersey	14

Callahan Visits Masonic Bodies

One of the largest gatherings of members of the Masonic fraternity since the occupancy of the lodge room in the Masonic Temple was present last night to greet M. W. Grand Master Charles H. Callahan, of Alexandria, on the occasion of an official visit to the fraternity of this city, among those present being District Deputy F. I. Graber, of Gretna; Past Grand Master H. O. Kerns, of this city; and the masters and wardens of many of the lodges embracing the 38th Masonic district. The grand master, a student and Masonic historian, in his excellent address reviewed Masonic history from its earliest days down through its establishment in this country and incidentally traced the development of Masonry in the prominent part played in its extension and influence by the patriots from Virginia had given to the nation in its beginnings.

Reaching his real theme after this preliminary portion of his address, he made an earnest and forceful appeal for participation by the fraternity in the district in the movement inaugurated at the Grand Lodge last year to rear an utilitarian memorial to the late George W. Wright, past grand master and for many years grand lecturer of the Virginia grand lodge. He pointed out the necessity to take the form of a home for aged, indigent or disabled Masons and their wives, including a refuge for those in ill health and especially victims of such a fine practical charity as the program of the grand master during his administration, and he is now seeking to enlist the officers of the lodges in all parts of the State in a definite and well organized movement to attain this end.

Mr. Callahan was received with the honors befitting his high rank on his arrival at the lodge, as was Deputy Grand Master Graber when introduced to the assemblage. Right Worshipful Ben W. Beach, of this city, deputy grand master of the Virginia jurisdiction, and Most Worshipful H. O. Kerns were the escort for Grand Master Callahan and presented him to Worshipful Master S. C. Cunningham.

It was the regular stated communication of the lodge and much time was consumed in dispatching the accumulated business of such communications, the large attendance adding

$3,000 to pay the bond protecting the Danville endowment of not less than $100,000. The Southern Railway company will secure money to build the umbrella sheds. The motion was made by Mr. Gardner.

A suggestion that the city traffic law be suspended during the American Legion Convention was offered by Mr. Townes on account of the number of strangers who will be here. A request was sent to the mayor that he suspend the ordinance during that time.

Communications from Judge Withers were read last night certifying the affirmative vote on the school street and sewer issues of last June.

All of the members were present last night except E. J. Hurd whose eligibility has been questioned for some months. Mr. Hurd was on hand before the meeting began and it is understood, intended to participate in the last night's meeting for he has been a member since 1913. The city attorney however informed the president of the council that as a matter of precaution in his opinion Mr. Hurd should be formally elected to his seat by the council. This was not done last night but the understanding is that this formality suggested as a matter of precaution will be done at the next special meeting.

ARKANSAS WILL CHOOSE CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 11.—The Ku Klux Klan issue was brought to the fore today in connection with the Democratic state primary to be held tomorrow as a result of a parade advertisement appearing in the Little Rock papers signed "Little Rock Klan No. 1, Realm of Arkansas," endorsing Lee Cantel, candidate for governor, and declaring that five of the six candidates had sought Klan endorsement and retorts from various candidates printed as advertisements in today's papers. The Klan advertisement predicted the vote of 50,000 citizens who will vote as a unit will be sufficient to nominate Cantel.

Each of the candidates expressed confidence of victory tomorrow.

In addition to selecting a candidate for governor, nominees for other state offices will be chosen and contests in four congressional districts will be decided. Representatives Oldfield, Tillman, Ragans and Parks are the four who will have opposition.

TEMPLE IS WELL INSURED

It was erroneously stated in a publication on Saturday evening and Sunday morning in chronicleing a small fire in an office that it was understood that no insurance was carried by the tenant and hope by the Masonic Building corporation on the temple. The fact is that the Masonic Temple is carrying insurance of $300,000.

Swift's Premium Brand, with its reputation for uniform goodness, is of long standing. It has behind it more than thirty years of leadership in scientific curing and smoking.

As early as 1889, Swift & Company's products had received highest awards at international expositions. One of the four medals awarded at the Paris Exposition of 1889 was for Premium smoked meats, and another was for "Silverleaf" Brand Pure Lard.

Premium Hams and Bacon were acknowledged the best then. They are better today. Laboratory control, constant, steady experiments, more careful selection, and painstaking care assure you of better meat with unfailing regularity.

Premium Hams are uniformly mild and delicious whether purchased in Los Angeles, in Bangor, or in Miami.

The pre-eminent position of Swift's Premium Hams and Bacon is indicative of the development of the packing industry—to which Swift & Company has contributed no small part in carrying to the table of the millions "More Meat and Better Meat."

South Bostonians Capture Ball Game Plus Gate Receipts

Gate receipts at a baseball game which did not check up with the crowd in the stands at Stonevale Jackson grounds threatened for a while today to become a source of contention between Danville and South Boston. The Halifax town colored team sent to Danville last night and snappy "All-Star" team to "cross bats" as one of them said today, with an equally invincible nine representing the cream of Danville's colored baseball talent. The game, played and South Boston won by a score variously estimated at 8-3 and 4-1.

The crowd of fans was large and temperamental, the sum of $182 being taken in during the afternoon's proceedings. It was the money that started all the trouble. It also did not help matters that the two teams appear to have decided on Danville taking forty per cent of the receipts and South Boston 60 per cent, the Halifax team said today, and the Danville team's promoters said that the bill had been squared and that was all the Halifax people could expect to carry home with them or words to that effect.

Resort to law followed, first in a complaint made to the mayor who, recognizing the civil aspects of the case, referred them to Magistrate Griggs, who this morning heard the case. The Halifax team's large attendance at the legal sequence as at the ball game and quite as much enthusiasm. The evidence developed that in the sale of admittances at the entrance gate, tickets were sold out and it was necessary for some one to go inside the ball grounds and forage around for passholders which were returned and re-sold. This resulted in financial chaos when it came to computing the proper amount to be paid. The people in the stands did not at all check up with the box office figures. The magistrate listened to rhetorical eloquence for quite a long time, then he said that he would not hear the case until the proper amount was paid. The Danville team should pay South Boston an additional $40.30. Commissioner said will not be appealed to. The Bostonians left in the Cadillac and "Percy-Arrow" left with the baseball victory plus the financial pickings, and that peculiar satisfaction which comes from a case won in court.

Cussed Postmaster In Mail; Must Now Answer to Judge

(Special to The Bee)
LEAKSVILLE, N. C., Aug. 12.—The dangerous expedient of "cussing out" public officials through the mails is revealed here in the plight of Willis T. Roberts who was arrested here a few days ago by postoffice agents and carried to New York where he must answer before Federal Judge Learned Hand. Roberts, in appearance, is a New York man, and on his alleged failure to secure a money order sent to him, he penned a letter to Postmaster General Nease couched in such vulgar and obscene language, the government charges as to constitute a criminal offense. He is now being held in New York where he must answer before Federal Judge Learned Hand. HOP-OFF ON TRIP

BANK IS CLOSED AFTER SUICIDE OF ITS CASHIER

The First National Bank of Putnam, whose cashier, G. Harold Gilpatrick, shot himself at his home last Thursday, closed its doors today. An hour after the usual hour of opening the closing of the bank was noted on the bank's front door. It was signed by N. S. Bean, chief national bank examiner. The notice was the first official statement that the bank directors had acted for the protection of the institution. The bank's funds have been admitted to be impaired. Before the posting, President Chas. B. Brown of the bank, notified all who called at the bank that the hour of opening had been changed to 10 o'clock sharp today, and a crowd began gathering. The directors were understood to be in session of the bank. A few of the older persons in the crowd were seen to leave the building. The cashier, who is the State treasurer, is in a serious condition and probably permanently blinded. A run on the savings department of the bank continued all day yesterday with an average of about a score of persons in line with drawing funds. From friends of the State treasurer's family it was learned that in a note left for his wife after the shooting he revealed that he was financially involved. Mr. Gilpatrick is in a hospital.

Loeb Acted "Childish," Student Friends Say

Richard Loeb, slayer of Bobby Franks, displayed "childish tendencies" at times, according to Max Schreyer (left), John Abt (center) and Edwin Weiss (right), university friends called by the defense. They also testified that although a senior, Loeb did not share all the privileges of a fourth year man while at the University of Michigan. They said he drank heavily and was regarded as argumentative and rather a bore.

ALIENIST AGAIN HUNT NEGRO FOR KILLING BABY, ATTACKING MOTHER

DIA, A. T. R., Ala., Aug. 12.—A D. J. A. T. R. posse, assisted by bloodhounds, is combing a section on Flint Creek in Morgan county. According to reports a negro heaved to be Milton was captured yesterday by T. J. Hinson, section boss on the Louisville Nashville railroad in Morgan county. The negro leaped from a hand car while being taken to the Hartselle jail, the report said and escaped.

Milton was a trusty in a Jefferson county convict camp and had about completed a sentence for burglary. A double-bladed axe was used in the attack on Mrs. Collins. Her skull was fractured and a baby in her arms was killed almost instantly. Armed citizens are still vigilant near Morgan. Another posse, assisted by bloodhounds, is combing a section on Flint Creek in Morgan county. According to reports a negro heaved to be Milton was captured yesterday by T. J. The defense would require approximately 45 minutes for its witnesses remaining after Dr. Hulbert, it was indicated, and the moment of resuming its case depended upon how much longer Mr. Crowe kept Dr. Hulbert under cross examination. (By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—The defense was near the resting point of its plea for mitigation of punishment in the Franks hearing when the eighteenth day's session opened before Judge John R. Caverly this morning. Dr. H. S. Hulbert, Chicago psychiatrist, was on the witness stand for the fourth day.

Dr. Hulbert was to undergo further cross-examination by Robert E. Crowe, State's attorney, who yesterday gained from the doctor admission that Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard J. Loeb, youthful kidnap-murderers of Robert Franks, had lied to him in statements upon which he based his conclusions that both youths were "mentally sick" when they killed the boy. Dr. Hulbert was expected to conclude his cross-examination of the mental pathologist before noon and permit the defense to offer testimony by its remaining three or four witnesses. The defense offered by Allan and Jacob Loeb, brother and uncle of Richard, and Foreman Leopold, brother of Nathan, Jr., according to Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense.

Dr. Crowe resumed his cross-examination with an interrogation as to whether the stereoscopic method had been used in taking the x-ray pictures of the brain, and if so, it being a matter of personal preference as to which method was used. The next few questions dealt with Leopold's reported sugar intolerance. Dr. Hulbert thumbed through a small notebook found in the trunk, turned to the passage indicated and slowly gave his answers. The State's attorney renewed his attack on the theory of functional disorders of the brain, and the moment of resuming its case depended upon how much longer Mr. Crowe kept Dr. Hulbert under cross examination.

Man Sues Doctor For Stealing His Wife's Affections

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Dr. Antonio Burke, a prominent physician, has been named as defendant in a $10,000 libel suit filed in the court of law and chancery by Montgomery City, a salesman. The motion picture industry alleges that Burke did not confine and wrongfully deprived out of the love and affection of a wife Mrs. Mary E. Burke. It is said that on or about May 1, 1921, and at diverse other times, Burke did and caused to be done, libelous and defamatory statements to be made and published in the press, and at other places unknown to the plaintiff, and won the love and affection of Mrs. Burke. The plaintiff alleged wrongful relations between Mrs. Burke and Dr. Burke were concealed from May 1, 1921, until June 27, 1921. The motion picture industry further alleged that the defendant, Burke, had caused the publication of the libelous statements in the press, and the necessity of expenditure of large sums of money to restore her to normal health.

Castor Oil? Never Again!

That's what mothers are saying since they have tried Liv-o-lax for the bilious attacks, indigestion and similar disorders of their children. Mother dreads giving castor oil just as much as the baby dreads taking it, and the same applies to colic. It was because the common family laxative fails to act on the liver that W. L. Hand began experimenting to devise a remedy that would act on both liver and bowels and take the place of castor oil and the Liv-o-lax formula, as has been proven in thousands of households, meets this need. Liv-o-lax is purely vegetable and is a liquid remedy, so pleasant to taste that the children love to take it. It is just as good for bilious conditions and disorders of digestion in adults. You can get Liv-o-lax now at your favorite drug store.

DAVIS, THE LEADER

The force which lies in the speech of acceptance delivered by John W. Davis at his West Virginia home last night is in its dignity and in its temperate tone. It serves an unusual purpose for it proclaims the character of the man who has been chosen to bear the standard of Democracy against its ancient foe and we suspect, the multitude which today reads his speech, will form a mental image of a dauntless leader and one who is revealed as grasping thoroughly the political exigencies of the present day. A smaller man and one less fitted to shoulder the burden would have treated the Republican disgrace differently. Mr. Davis, of course, recognizes the vulnerability of the present party in power on that score and he hits it cleanly but from the shoulder. Treated effectively and with finality he passes on to the larger questions of national policy and shows himself to be a man of worthy ideals and one who reveals constantly those human traits which are so lacking in the personality of the present incumbent of the White House. Unless President Coolidge next Thursday reveals an entirely new phase of his enigmatic personality in making his formal bid for national support there will be shown as wide a difference in the intellectuality and vision of the two men as there is in their physical appearance.

The speech instantly converts one to the belief that the tedious sessions of the Democratic National Convention and the record number of ballots taken were not in vain and that the two-thirds rule has justified its retention. But for that, the Democrats of the nation would have missed the inspiration which comes from the clarion call to lift the American government from its present atmosphere of corrupt influences and to place it on equality in thought, word and deed with the other nations and democracies of the world. Mr. Davis has immeasurably strengthened himself by a studious avoidance of anything favoring of demagogic tactics and by his expression of ideals of statesmanship for which a formidable army of thinking men and women have been impatiently waiting since the day of Woodrow Wilson.

Pictures have played a vital part in the shaping of the destinies of the world and the individual. They are an important factor for good or evil—depending on the picture. Good pictures lead to good thoughts and good actions or better of the thoughtful and the cultured. The thoughtful and the cultured bring good pictures into their cottages or homes.
 We can not all afford to purchase the originals of the few immortal masterpieces but modern commercialism beneficently brings within the reach of the humblest home good "copies." It is true that the rich buy "paintings" and the poor buy "prints" but no less true is it that there are millions of prints sold for each painting "sold for a fortune." There is a wealth in pictures that is unknown to "wealth." The artist could wish for no fuller and finer appreciation of his art than that bestowed upon it by those without means to own it "in oils."

 The value of the picture is known to those in all walks of life. Newspapers have long recognized the news value in the picture, educators know its educational value, the church depends upon it for inspirational power.
 An advertising writer says "to unlock the average mind use a pictorial key." Sir Joshua Reynolds wrote "a room hung with pictures is a room hung with thoughts" and in the words of Ben Jonson "whosoever loves not a picture is injurious to truth. The picture is the invention of heaven, the most ancient and most akin to nature. It is itself a silent work and always one and the same habit."
 Man learned to paint and draw pictures—roughly and rudely at first—before he learned to talk and to build himself a fire. Some of the pictures created by the genius of man will be among the last things cherished by man.

UNGUARDED INVESTMENTS

Day by day international events make it more clear to all Americans, except those afflicted with prejudicial blindness, that our national well-being is increasingly bound up with that of Europe and, furthermore, with the whole world. Fewer and fewer in number become those who ask "what have we to do with abroad?"

There are inexorable facts of international relations—economic facts, if no others—which make it essential that we participate in the administration of the affairs of the world as well as of the United States. It is not our duty to our sister nations or to the peoples of the world it is our duty to ourselves. We have thoroughly exploded the patriotic myth of our economic independence.

The large and increasing stake which America has abroad is indicated by the extent of American investments in foreign securities. These are conveniently summarized, as drawn from successive reports of the Federal Reserve Board, in an article published in The Current History Magazine for August. The best estimate is that 10 years ago American holdings of foreign securities did not exceed $400,000,000. But between August, 1914, and January, 1919, foreign bonds were floated in the United States to the extent of $3,500,000,000. During the period January, 1919, to January, 1924, the total of foreign bonds floated in the United States was $3,250,000,000. These latter transactions were doubtless in part refunding operations, but even so the outstanding total represents a great sum on which it is safe to say that the interest is larger than our entire foreign investment of 1914. Yet there are some clear-eyed Americans who cannot see what business Americans have in London trying to bring about industrial and financial satiation in Europe.

What is so rare as a breeze in August?

KEEPING GOOD WELLS ON FARMS

Dr. C. W. Stiles furnishes us with some new information on the question of pollution of farm wells and cisterns in town and villages. He says, "a well is a deep hole in the ground, ten to twenty feet of a pipkin, a barnyard, a privy, or a badly soiled back porch and yard, provided three requirements are met:
 First: The top of the well must be protected by a watertight cover against surface wash.
 Second: The walls of the well are lined by some watertight material from a level a foot or two above the top limit reached by ground water, and a foot or two below the lowest level of ground water.
 Third: The well must not be located so as to let the soil water flowing away from such sources of pollution as barnyards, barnyards, stables, and privies.

The purpose of the top cover is to prevent leakage into the well from pollution on top or close around, and to prevent the runoff from heavy rains and from melting snow from the well. A well covered well is fairly safe on this point. The next two points are really parts of the same point, and can be discussed together.
 Dr. Stiles has been experimenting for several years in an abandoned fort on the North Carolina coast. The sand soil there is not contaminated by the big central well and several hundred feet of varying diameter, and in all directions from the central well there is a foot or two of water. He has examined the surrounding wells for pollution. Among the facts that he has proved are:
 1. The ground water flows in one direction without variation. That direction has no fixed relation to the direction of the flow of water on the surface of the earth. Pollution never travels up stream in ground water. Wells too far away from the polluted area remain unpolluted, except those down stream in the ground water flow. Those down stream from the polluted area are polluted, even though they are covered by a foot or two of water. A farmer who wants to dig a well must first find out which way the ground water is flowing. Maybe the neighbors can tell him. Maybe the flow is toward the nearest large river

SUNDAY

He has preached 22,000 sermons—Canon Hay, Aitken, England's greatest revivalist. Aged, but in good health, so he may pass John Wesley's record of 27,000 sermons.
 Vicar Aitken's observation is that church-going habits have been broken down by the invention of the bicycle and auto. He overlooks golf. "Every new benefit which science has conferred upon us has been used to take men away from the churches."
 An exception is radio, which has created an invisible church audience numbering into the millions.

ANIMAL

The theory of evolution, by allying men with the animals, has during and since the war lessened the numbers of men to interpret their backs on the spiritual interpretation of life which Christianity offers. So claims Canon Hay Aitken, England's leading revivalist.
 He is a bit unfair to the animals. They are entirely natural. Man's wickedness is without exception the result of evading or short-circuiting natural processes.

DRUDGE

Rural women still are a drudge; mourns a scientist of Smithsonian Institution. She will continue so, to considerable extent, until the country is placed on an electrical basis.
 Electricity is destined to be the Great Emancipator of human slavery. Coal will be burned at the mines, generating power to be sent over high-tension wires. Or by radio. Possibly some farm boy, impressed by his mother's drudgery, will find the radio way that will be cheap and universal.

PACKED

Senator Copeland says: "In my city of New York is a square mile where live 500,000 persons. Just think of it, a half million in one square mile! Nowhere else on earth—not in India or China—is there anything like it. I can take you to thousands of houses in which 12 persons live in three rooms, where four sleep in the kitchen every night. In hundreds of those so-called homes they live in inside rooms, without light or outside air."

The worst part is that this situation is the logical outcome of all civilization—if continued on the present mechanical basis. Civilization is a system by which man walls himself into a prison.

THIEVES

Today's dream is tomorrow's accomplishment—just as surely now as when men first dreamed of flying with artificial wings.
 A big scientific dream is transmission of electric power by radio. Collecting current from consumers could be difficult, next to impossible. The cost will have to be paid by government from tax funds. One instance of many, that we are headed toward a socialistic condition whether we approve or not.

EYES

SYNOPSIS

The "Nervous Wreck," an eccentric young easterner who is a guest at the Bar-M ranch in Montana, drives Sally Morgan, daughter of the owner, over a rough, uncertain trail from the ranch to the railroad station.
 After several mishaps, they run out of gasoline and the occupants of a passing car refuse to lend them any. The Wreck takes five gallons at the point of a gun and drives on.
 Later they are held captive at a ranch along the way because the foreman, Charlie McSwen, needs a cook, and Sally fills that need. They discover that the owner of the ranch is the owner of the car which they held up.
 The owner is Mr. Underwood of New York, and that he and his boy and girl expect to stay at the ranch for several weeks.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"His heir" from New York is why I was so particular about the cooking. I had Chinks here last year and they did real well. So I went and got another pair this summer, but, as I told you, the boys and kind of juvenile, they're not fit to eat. They're not fit to eat. The boss must have money," suggested Sally.
 "Yes, ma'am; he is lousy with it. He raises fancy cattle, and that's the way he made his money. He took it from somebody in Wall Street. But there ain't any finer cattle in Montana. They don't know how he made his money. They don't care. I can't say that I care anything myself. I'm liberal in my views. If I were you, ma'am, I'd make it look as much like New York as I could."
 "Oh, I'll give them lots," said Sally.
 "Don't you worry, old—"
 It slipped half way from her lips—"old timer." It was awfully hard to play tender when Charlie was around. But Charlie gave no sign that he noticed anything.
 "That's right, ma'am; feed 'em liberal and fancy. I can see you're going to make an awful hit with the boys."
 He went out again, satisfied that dinner was under way and that Sally would be a credit to his discrimination in cooks. She was flying around the kitchen like a marionette on wires, attending to three or four things at once, but without the least trace of confusion.
 "Poke that fire up, Henry; put a lot of wood on it and get it going. I want a hot oven. There's a pile of wood outside the door. Fill the kettle over at the sink pump and put it on. I've got fifty things to do, and you've got to help with some of them. Better put your apron on, too; you'll get all mussed up if you don't."
 The Wreck went about his task with a scowl.
 "The big lying hog," he said, "I never touched their watches and valuables."
 "They're just excited," explained Sally, as she hunted for a rolling pin. "People always exaggerate. Charlie doesn't suspect us, anyhow. So there's that much gained. Don't let the kettle too full. It'll boil over."
 "I'm not. I'll be hanged if I'd break my neck cooking for them."
 "That's nothing. I've cooked for lots of people. Besides, I've cooked for time. We're going to give them the best meal we know how."
 "Chinamen's work!"
 "It would be a good thing for us if we were Chinamen," said Sally. "Then we'd have a com-

sody in yellows and golden browns. The Wreck eyed it with jealous disapproval, but she did not give him time to express an opinion. She had him opening a can of soup and pouring it into a saucepan for heating. There was time for that much, anyhow.
 "I'll cook them a regular meal next time," she promised. "But this will have to do for short notice."
 Her enthusiasm for the odious task depressed him.
 "Don't work your head off," he advised. "You'll get no thanks for it." "Oh, I've got lots to do yet," said Sally, cheerfully. "For one thing, I've got to wait on the table."
 The Wreck nearly upset the coffee pot in his anger.
 "You will not!" he exclaimed. "Of course I will."
 "I'll not have you waiting on hogs, Sally Morgan. They can wait on themselves."
 "Don't be ridiculous. They don't eat in the kitchen. Somebody's got to carry it to them."
 "All right, then. I'll carry it to 'em." She stared, then shook her head vehemently.
 "You can't. You got to dole them as long as you can. They'll be a blow-up, as sure as a gun, the minute they see you."
 "Well, I'm going to wait on them, if anybody," she said, doggedly. "What's the use of dodging around?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"His heir" from New York is why I was so particular about the cooking. I had Chinks here last year and they did real well. So I went and got another pair this summer, but, as I told you, the boys and kind of juvenile, they're not fit to eat. They're not fit to eat. The boss must have money," suggested Sally.
 "Yes, ma'am; he is lousy with it. He raises fancy cattle, and that's the way he made his money. He took it from somebody in Wall Street. But there ain't any finer cattle in Montana. They don't know how he made his money. They don't care. I can't say that I care anything myself. I'm liberal in my views. If I were you, ma'am, I'd make it look as much like New York as I could."
 "Oh, I'll give them lots," said Sally.
 "Don't you worry, old—"
 It slipped half way from her lips—"old timer." It was awfully hard to play tender when Charlie was around. But Charlie gave no sign that he noticed anything.
 "That's right, ma'am; feed 'em liberal and fancy. I can see you're going to make an awful hit with the boys."
 He went out again, satisfied that dinner was under way and that Sally would be a credit to his discrimination in cooks. She was flying around the kitchen like a marionette on wires, attending to three or four things at once, but without the least trace of confusion.
 "Poke that fire up, Henry; put a lot of wood on it and get it going. I want a hot oven. There's a pile of wood outside the door. Fill the kettle over at the sink pump and put it on. I've got fifty things to do, and you've got to help with some of them. Better put your apron on, too; you'll get all mussed up if you don't."
 The Wreck went about his task with a scowl.
 "The big lying hog," he said, "I never touched their watches and valuables."
 "They're just excited," explained Sally, as she hunted for a rolling pin. "People always exaggerate. Charlie doesn't suspect us, anyhow. So there's that much gained. Don't let the kettle too full. It'll boil over."
 "I'm not. I'll be hanged if I'd break my neck cooking for them."
 "That's nothing. I've cooked for lots of people. Besides, I've cooked for time. We're going to give them the best meal we know how."
 "Chinamen's work!"
 "It would be a good thing for us if we were Chinamen," said Sally. "Then we'd have a com-

sody in yellows and golden browns. The Wreck eyed it with jealous disapproval, but she did not give him time to express an opinion. She had him opening a can of soup and pouring it into a saucepan for heating. There was time for that much, anyhow.
 "I'll cook them a regular meal next time," she promised. "But this will have to do for short notice."
 Her enthusiasm for the odious task depressed him.
 "Don't work your head off," he advised. "You'll get no thanks for it." "Oh, I've got lots to do yet," said Sally, cheerfully. "For one thing, I've got to wait on the table."
 The Wreck nearly upset the coffee pot in his anger.
 "You will not!" he exclaimed. "Of course I will."
 "I'll not have you waiting on hogs, Sally Morgan. They can wait on themselves."
 "Don't be ridiculous. They don't eat in the kitchen. Somebody's got to carry it to them."
 "All right, then. I'll carry it to 'em." She stared, then shook her head vehemently.
 "You can't. You got to dole them as long as you can. They'll be a blow-up, as sure as a gun, the minute they see you."
 "Well, I'm going to wait on them, if anybody," she said, doggedly. "What's the use of dodging around?"

DRAKES BRANCH, August 12.—(Grapevine Wireless).—Readers of this Album of Song need not be alarmed at the announcement that the planet Mars is headed toward earth. Scientists tell us that the distance between us on August 28th will be 35,000,000 miles. While this is the nearest approach to the earth, it is claimed, we have nothing to worry about on this score for the text several hundred years.

A very mindful gentleman, possessing a somewhat prominent nose, was in conversation with a noted astronomer as to the approaching nearness of the planet Mars to the earth. The astronomer invited this gentleman to peer at the mythical son of Jupiter, which he did with gravity and precision, until, he caught sight of a fly, which had just alighted on the tip of his nose; causing him to exclaim: "Blessed, if I thought I sold it as a humorous anecdote, up there 100,000 years."

SPARKLE CAPTURES FOREST CITY PRIZE
(By The Associated Press)
NORTH RANDALL, CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—Sparkle, from the stable of W. T. Cropper, Hartford, Conn., retrained, furnished an upset here today, capturing the Forest City prize of $2,000 for the fastest pacer.

Baron Worthy, Tommy Murphy's gelding, which had won four of his five starts was made odds on favorite, but except in the second heat, when he led for a while, was never dangerous.

Crozier kept Sparkle out of the pace set by Colonel Bidwell and came on to win the last two heats after finishing third to Colonel Bidwell in the first. The time for three heats was good considering that it had been drizzling all afternoon.

Another upset came when Trumpet, another of Murphy's stable, defeated in the 2-9 trot in which he was favorite. This event went to Guy Lightning in straight heats after Trumpet captured the first preliminary heat.

With the exception of the feature all of the races were under the elimination plan.

CHUCKLED OVERBOARD AT SEA, HE SWIMS IN
(Copyright, 1924, Chicago Tribune)
NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Under observation today at the King's county hospital a man who gave the name of John Flanley, 39 years of age, of Wakefield, Mass., told a rambling tale of having "chucked overboard" from a freighter playing between Boston and Cuba, and that he incurred the enmity of some of the crew, who threw him overboard near the buoy. He managed to reach the buoy and clung to it all day. He said there were many steamers passing within sight, but his distress signals were ignored until the tug picked him up during the afternoon. His other version was that he landed in New York yesterday morning and went for a walk along the water front.

He saw a young man in a canoe—he did not remember where this was—and accepted an offer of a ride. They were off Far Rockaway, near the buoy, he told the police, when his companion asked him to visit on the buoy until he "delivered a message." Flanley parked on the buoy as the canoe went away.

The public is so restless this summer that it has been discussing the same Chicago murder case for several weeks.

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotion Revealed in Private LetterLETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN
FRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CAR-
TON, CONTINUED

Here's something funny that I forgot to tell you. You remember that letter that Paula wrote me, asking me not to flirt with anyone. Well, the moment she got to the wedding she spotted Mrs. Atherton immediately, and said:

"So that is the woman you are flirting with? You do not know when you are well off. With a lovely wife, to go around flirting with a red-headed woman is more than I can forgive."

Can you beat that, Syd? Most men think they are handicapped with a wife to look after their flirtations, but when a man's former sweetheart also takes up the cudgel for his wife, you can imagine he has some espionage to struggle against.

I wish you'd come over and stay with me, Syd, for a while, anyway till I get used to Leslie's being away. I have no one to talk to but mother, and she is the last woman I want to talk to under the circumstances, you know. Of course, if you won't come you must reconsider your determination not to write me. I tell you, old man, I'm in great trouble, and I have always considered that you were the best friend any man ever had.

Sincerely,
JACK.

Night Letter From Mrs. Mary Alden Prescott to Mrs. Leslie Prescott:

You ought to write me, my dear Leslie, for we are very anxious not only to know how your father is but how you yourself are getting on. I see that John is very much concerned, although he has said nothing about it. You owe something to your father. Give me your greatest sympathy to your mother. Tell her that I know exactly what she is going through, as my dear husband was ill a long time before he passed away. Little John is well and happy. He doesn't seem to miss you very much. He has become very fond of his grandmother. Love to you, my child.

MOTHER FRESCOTT.

Night Letter From Beatrice Summers to Sally Atherton:

Send me immediately Leslie's address. Have mislaid it. Trip across country very delightful. Miss Perier much more human than you would expect a woman who has as much adulation as she would have. Have never known a woman so crazy about children. She seems to think Leslie's boy the loveliest child she ever saw. Talks about him incessantly. Did you know she went up to the house to see him the night of the wedding? Dick and I are very happy, of course. Sometimes I wish this journey would never end as I dread Hollywood and Hollywood environment. I wonder if I will be happy there as I am now.

LEMONS BLEACH THE SKIN WHITE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—adv.

It might have been half a season, the Furniture Makers seem to be breaking up house. Remembrance last year how they started out like a house afire and then slumped. Looks like they are repeating again. Durham by consistent playing and with the Pointers losing so many, has climbed on the top rung from present indications bids fair to stay there.

Wilson Went To Pieces.
Gee, Wilson pitched a great game for five innings, but he blew up just like a keg of powder. Didn't allow but one hit for five chapters. Had the Caps baffled. They were eating out of his hand. All of a sudden, before old Murphy could realize it, an avalanche of hits sent across four runs in the sixth. Harris went to the rescue but had not time to warm the old flinging wing up sufficiently and three markers were registered on him.

Harris Worked Too Much.
Speaking of Harris, that boy is being worked entirely out of his mind. Although in great form since his recuperation from injuries, the frequency with which he is worked impairs his efficiency. He either starts or finishes a game not less than every other day.

This consistent losing by the locals is getting to be serious. Thanks to The Twins yapping Greensboro yesterday—else Danville would have been nosed right out of the first division and the Patriots would be there today and a win by Greensboro would do that very thing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Katie Rockne took the title with the prospects for another fine eleven at Notre Dame that he is not even spending the summer in the vicinity of Southbend, but is wandering here and there over the west putting in about the busiest summer of his life. Various coaching schools that any guidance professor ever attempted.

Notre Dame's big date was on October 18 when she meets West Point. October 25 when she appears at Princeton; then Georgia Tech at Southbend, November 1, and Wisconsin at Madison, November 6. Nebraska will come to Southbend, November 15 to see if she can make it three straight over the Indians and on November 22, the Southbenders will take the field in Pittsburgh, opposing Carnegie Tech.

Big ten elevens, either mindful of their prestige or pressed with dates—or both—have left Notre Dame severely alone in recent years—that is to say the leading conference elevens have, high of course makes the Wisconsin game the more alluring and interesting. The contest will do the Badgers a world of good, no team can play against Rockne's men without benefit, provided players and coaches keep their eyes open.

Perhaps the beneficial results will show in the games played by the men of Madison, following the struggle with Notre Dame. Princeton may be expected to display greater familiarity with the Rockne offense than was the case in 1923. Rockne like most coaches has his faults, but no one ever accused him of failing to profit by bitter lessons.

The Army, too, will be gunning for the shifty Indiana outfit. Captain McEwen, the coach, at West Point is just now in a mood where he would enjoy a victory over Notre Dame as much—or almost—as over the Navy.

Va. League Race Not Very Close
(By The Associated Press.)
RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 12.—The race in the Virginia League this year is not as close as it was last season, but it is close enough to keep the teams and fans wondering who will be in the leadership each day.

Last year, Wilson won the bunting, with an average of .574. Richmond, was second with .570. Norfolk, third, with .516. Norfolk fourth, with .503. Portsmouth fifth, with .453, and Petersburg, sixth, with .347.

At present the Richmond Colts are in the lead, with Rocky Mount and Portsmouth struggling hard to oust them. Wilson, Norfolk and Petersburg are following along in order named.

Richmond got away to a poor start this year, owing to ineffective twinning. Jack, a former manager and catcher, soon got his hurlers in working order, however, and then the Colts found their hitting eyes. Maley, a new-comer, proved a pleasant surprise to the leader and Rocky Mount turning out to be a top-notch pitcher. Dodson, who only won a fair number of victories, got into excellent condition and already has recorded more than twenty wins for the Colts this season. Haynes has been good, at a relief man. Johnny Jones has been doing along in fine form, while Brillhart, recently acquired from the Washington Americans, after Norfolk had turned him back, is being depended on to give the pitching staff strength with which to win the pennant.

Portsmouth has led the league most of the season, but it got into a slump several weeks ago just as the Colts started their climb. Rocky Mount and Wilson looked poor early in the season, but they are now going along at a good clip, with the former apparently the stronger of the two. Petersburg and Norfolk have been hugging close to the cellar all the season, but recently have been strengthened and are expected to be dangerous during the closing days of the race. About thirty more games remain on the schedule.

PIRATES' DOUBLE WIN ONLY THRILL YESTERDAY

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—An American league holiday compelled followers of Ban Johnson's obstacle race to turn to the National league for their baseball sustenance. The younger circuit clubs spent the day traveling to the cities where the western teams will open their third invasion of the east today.

Pittsburgh's double victory over Philadelphia furnished what little thrill the apathetic national fans are capable of arousing. This feat cut down the Giants' lead over the Pirates from seven games and a half to seven. Manager Fletcher of the Phillies and Umpire Phelan enlivened the first Pittsburgh-Philadelphia tilt with a fast fight over the arbiters' decision on Glanzer's pitching. Umpire Hart,

HERE'S AN ALL-STAR STAFF OF SMART HURLERS

THINKERS

In baseball the term "smart pitcher" is applied to the twirler who uses his head as well as his arm. A smart pitcher does not necessarily have the most ability. In great many cases it is lack of stuff that causes him to resort to strategy. Pitchers with much natural ability usually depend entirely on their stuff to get them by. Often such pitchers do not resort to headwork until the arm starts to give way under the strain.

Walter Johnson and Grover Cleveland Alexander, two of the greatest pitchers of all time, frankly confess they never gave much thought to brain stuff until they first suffered a lame arm.

Of the present-day crop of pitchers in the major leagues, Urban Shocker of the St. Louis Browns is generally conceded to be the craftiest.

Here is the all-star "gray matter" pitching staff of the American League:

St. Louis Browns—Urban Shocker. Chicago White Sox—Hollis Thurston. Cleveland Indians—Sherry Smith. Washington Nationals—George Mogridge.

New York Yankees—Herb Pennock. Philadelphia Athletics—Ed Rommel. Detroit Tigers—George Dauss. Boston Red Sox—Howard Ehmke.

While every successful major league pitcher must use his head as well as his arm, these eight pitchers stand out.

Walter Johnson, perhaps the greatest pitcher of all time, now goes in strongly for the smart stuff. Once upon a time Walter simply threw the ball by the batter. He worked on the theory that you couldn't hit what you couldn't see.

Today Walter Johnson is rated one of the wisest pitchers in the game. When his arm wavered he called on his brain for reserve power.

In selecting these eight smart pitchers, natural ability has been put in the background to a certain extent. There are any number of right-handers in the American League who have more stuff than Hollis Thurston and plenty of left-handers with more natural ability than George Mogridge.

"The wise fellow who uses his head no matter how much stuff he has," says the great Walter Johnson.

Nominee Plans An Intensive Drive of U. S.

command, with all legitimate endeavors, whether they come from the league or from any other source, to lessen the prospect of war and to promote disarmament.

While omitting direct reference to the Ku Klux Klan the democratic declaration bearer made a solemn declaration.

Referring to any possible criticism concerning his past career and conduct as a lawyer, Mr. Davis said he had no apology to offer for either.

This statement by the candidate was in response to references in the notification address of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana to Mr. Davis' former employment professionally as lawyer by gigantic business interests whose policy and conduct have aroused quite general indignation.

"The argument that you are a Wall Street man is an unbecoming insult," Senator Walsh said, "is without merit as is the assertion that your nomination is the result of the influence of Wall Street. Neither alumni nor over-zealous partisanship can rise to such heights as to charge that the convention from which your credentials came was biased by anyone."

Although he received a drizzling, as did the thousands who heard him speak, Mr. Davis apparently had suffered no ill effects. He was rather tired when he had concluded and drained, immediately to his home and retired early.

Late today he will say good bye again to his neighbors and friends and leave for New York where he will have further conferences with party leaders before visiting national headquarters at Washington next week.

Before going to the capital however, Mr. Davis probably will pay a visit to Governor Sizer of New Jersey.

Before his notification last night, the administration functioned in building up a campaign organization and the national committee was re-organized with the selection of Clem L. Shaver, of this state as chairman.

James W. General, of New York, former ambassador to Germany, was elected treasurer of the committee and Jesse H. Jones, a Houston, Texas, banker, was selected to head the finance committee.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 11.—The supreme need of the hour is to bring back to the people confidence in their government, John W. Davis declared tonight in his address accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Formally putting under way the national campaign of 1924, he indicated the Republican party "in its organized capacity for having shaken public confidence to its very foundations," and laid against it these specific charges:

"Having exhibited deeper and more widespread corruption than any that has been called upon to witness."

"Complicity in the face of that corruption and with ill will towards the efforts of honest men to expose it."

"Gross favoritism to the privileged and utter disregard of the unprivileged."

"Indifference to world peace and timidity in the conduct of foreign affairs."

"Disorganization, division and incoherence."

Declaring that on the record he would ask the voters of the country to pass judgment of condemnation, "as concerning all men who aspire to public office, that dishonesty, either in thought, word or deed, will not be tolerated in America," Mr. Davis said the Democratic party was prepared to offer in exchange a "program based on Democratic principles and guaranteed by a record of Democratic performance."

The chief things to which he pledged himself were:

An honest, impartial, and so far as human wisdom will permit, a just government.

Opposition to any challenge—"organized or unorganized, assisted or unassisted"—of the constitutional guarantees of religious freedom.

Enforcement of all laws, including the prohibition amendment and statutes enacted under it.

Agricultural aid through revision of the tariff, governmental assistance in extending the co-operative marketing principle and by other means.

Reduction in taxation and revision of the tariff.

Economy in government, but not of the kind that deprives government employees of pay equal to that they would receive from private employers for similar work.

Approval of the World Court.

Co-operation officially with all legitimate endeavors, whether from the League of Nations or from any other source, to lessen the prospect of war; to aid in repairing the ravages of past wars; to promote disarmament and to advance the well-being of mankind.

"To maintain the means of adequate nominee defense "until reason is permitted to take the place of force."

In opposition to the impairment "either by injunction or by any other device" of the rights of labor to organizing and to bargain collectively for an adequate wage earned under healthful conditions.

The protection of women and children from human greed and unequal laws.

Prevention of child labor and suppression of the illicit traffic in soul destroying drugs.

Conservation of all of the natural resources of the country.

Grateful care to those who were stricken and wounded in the country's service and whose confidence has been so cruelly and corruptly abused."

Finally, Mr. Davis said he entered the campaign free from pledge or promise to any man and would "hold it so to the end."

Also he declared that when it became necessary to raise funds for the conduct of the campaign they would be contributed "with this understanding and this only: that neither the Democratic party nor I as its leader have any favors for sale."

Expressing in general terms his approval of the proposals contained in the platform adopted by the convention which nominated him, the candidate said he could not be expected at this moment to discuss them in detail or to commit himself to any of the things they are to be carried into effect.

"There will be time enough for that," he said.

Much of his address was given over to a measured attack upon the record of the Republican party during the past four years. Recounting what he termed "the multiplied scandals of these melancholy years," Mr. Davis assailed the executive branch for "hurried efforts to suppress testimony, to discourage witnesses, to spy upon investigators and, finally, by trumped up indictment, to frighten and deter the investigators from their pursuit."

Turning to the legislative branch of the present tariff law there was "an unblinking return to the evil days of rewarding party support and political contributions with legislative favors." Also he charged inability to administer the executive branch of the government with the result of disagreement between the president and the Republican majority in Congress to agree on public questions.

Declaring that it was not in domestic matters alone that "the symptoms of this creeping paralysis" were apparent, Mr. Davis said that not only have executive recommendations for adherence to the "world court" been "flouted and ignored," but no evidence is in sight that the Republican party as now constituted "will ever return to its conclusions any definite and consistent foreign policy."

If the reconstruction of Europe weighing heavily on the world," he said, "with American economic life dwarfed and stunted by the ruinous effects of world commerce; with the agricultural regions of the west sinking into bankruptcy because of the loss of their foreign markets; we have stood by as powerless spectators, offering to the world nothing but private charity and individual advice."

Moving from his attack on the opposition to a discussion of other issues, Mr. Davis saved to the last his utterances on the world court, which he called a "bitter fight in the New York convention—religious freedom. Without referring by name to any organizations, the nominee said he wished to "denounce bigotry, intolerance and prejudice as alien to the spirit of America," and promised that when elected, he would "set up no standard of religious faith or racial origin" as a qualification for any of the thousands of offices he would be called upon to fill.

For the aid of the farmer, Mr. Davis said the Democrats proposed to see to it that the discriminations which the tariff makes against him shall be removed, that this government by doing its share toward a European settlement shall help to relieve and enlarge his foreign market; that forces of government shall be put actively to work to lend assistance to endeavors for extending the principle of co-operative marketing; that when widespread distress has overtaken him, every power which the government enjoys under the Constitution shall be exerted in his aid.

"In spite of the failures and shortcomings of existing laws, this is an ideal which I can not believe to be beyond the reach of attainment."

Turning to the field of foreign affairs, Mr. Davis told his audience that the Democratic party favored the world court "in sincerity and not merely for campaign purposes," regarding it as a real advance toward the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

As to the League of Nations, the candidate declared that "we do not and can not accept the dictum unauthoritatively by an expression of popular will that the League of Nations is a closed incident so far as we are concerned." Adding that at no time had he believed that the entrance of America into the League could or should occur until the judgment of the American people was ready for the step, he said he was "serenely confident" that a day would come when the voice of public approval would find means to be beyond the reach of attainment."

Promising that if he became president of the United States America would sit as "an equal among equals" whenever she sits at all at international gatherings, Mr. Davis said he could not reconcile it with his ideas of the dignity of a great nation to be represented at such gatherings only "under the poor pretense of 'unofficial observers'."

"It is the solemn duty of every believer in American institutions to oppose any challenge of this sacred document," Mr. Davis declared. "No disaster that the mind can picture equals in its hideous possibilities the coming in this country of a separation of its citizenship into discordant groups along racial or religious lines. No evil would so utterly destroy our happiness and security at home and our dignity and influence abroad."

Mr. Davis was offered to his party by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, chairman of the convention which nominated him, "as a candidate in whom there will be general pride." Senator Walsh said Mr. Davis had been adjudged by all fair minded men as a liberal and a progressive and hailed him as a leader in the cause of training and experience for the presidency. He denounced the argument that Mr. Davis was a "Wall Street candidate."

The nominee also departed from his written speech to declare that he had no apology for his past career and conduct as a lawyer.

"The answer to any criticism on that score must come from the more than one hundred thousand honest and patriotic men and women who make up the legal profession in this country. They know and will gladly testify that the upright lawyer sells his services, but never his soul."

Calling attention to the fact that he had severed his professional connections immediately after his nomination, Mr. Davis declared: "I have no clients today but the Democratic party, and if they will it will be the people of the United States."

Turning to the League of Nations issue, Mr. Davis declared the Democratic party did not and could not accept the dictum "unauthorized by any expression of popular will" that the League of Nations is a closed issue.

"I yield to no man in my resolve to maintain America's independence, or in my unwillingness to involve her in the quarrels of other nations," Mr. Davis said. "Yet from the day when the proposal was first put forward, I believed that American duty and American interests alike demanded our joining as a free and equal people, the other free peoples of the world in this enterprise. Nothing that has since occurred has shaken me in that belief. On the contrary, the march of events has shown not only that the League has in it the seed to ensure survival, but that it is destined more and more to become the bulwark of peace and order to mankind."

Endorsing the proposal of American adherence to the world court, the nominee declared that the Democrats favored the court, "in sincerity and not merely for campaign purposes or as an avenue to escape from the consideration of larger questions."

"We believe of a real advance toward the peaceful settlement of international disputes," Mr. Davis said. "An advance from which America cannot turn away without proving herself false to the teachings of a century."

Ranking Players Still In Play In Tennis Tourney

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 12.—Although the ranking tennis stars, Wm. M. Johnston, of California, Norman E. Brooks, of Australia, Clarence J. Griffin, of California, and S. Howard Voshell, of New York, won their way to their round of the Davis cup singles on the courts of the Casino club here, they did not come through with flying colors. All the seeded players encountered strong opposition.

After disposing of E. W. Feibleman of New York quite handsily at 6-1, 6-3, in his first round match, Johnston was forced to extend himself to defeat his young protegee, Irving Weinstein, of St. Francis, in the second set. Weinstein outdrew the cup defender and came through to an 8 to 6 triumph. In the first and third sets, however, Johnston had the upper hand and took the match by scores of 6-3, 6-2.

Dr. George King, of New York, sprung the surprise of the day eliminating Carl Fischer, of Philadelphia at 7-5, 6-1.

Today's principal match will be that between E. W. Niles of Boston and Griffin.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The second round of the national women's championship on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club today will find all the ranking players still in competition. By their first round victories, 21 entries, besides three of the five players who had drawn byes in the first round, Mrs. J. Saunders Taylor of New York, also advanced to the third round by administering a 7-5, 6-1.

Mrs. Mollie B. Mallory, of New York, won her way to the third round by defeating Miss Caroma Winn, of Mountain Lakes, N. J., at 6-1, 6-4. Both players had drawn byes in the first round. Mrs. J. Saunders Taylor of New York, also advanced to the third round by administering a 7-5, 6-1.

Other important singles matches will be played today between Miss Helen Willis of Berkeley, Calif., and Mrs. H. P. Falk, of Elberon, N. J.; Miss Eleanor Goss, of New York, and Mrs. B. E. Cole, of Lawrence, Mass.; Miss Mary K. Browne, of Los Angeles, and Miss Genevieve Anderson, of Richmond, Va.; and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup of Wilmington, Del., and Miss Mary E. Case, of Orange, N. J.

CHEERS FOR PASTOR
VINELAND, N. J., Aug. 12.—People lined the sidewalks and cheered as a Vineland pastor and his wife drove by in their car on a return trip from the seashore. It's just like our wedding trip," said the woman. When they returned home they found the pastor's blue and white bathing suit hanging from the rear of the car.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—General John Pershing, who will quit the United States army next month, rounded out his military record last week by taking a whirl at being secretary of war.

Secretary Weeks had left Washington for his mountain-top farm in New Hampshire. Assistant Secretary Dwight F. Davis had also beat it out of town just in advance of an invading army of reporters.

Whereupon the whole responsibility for Uncle Sam's armed forces devolved upon the chief of staff, who is Pershing. He at once became acting secretary, and in that capacity "held the fort" during the absence of his civilian superior.

On Sept. 13, Pershing's 64th birthday anniversary, the "General of the American Armies" will be retired automatically to the retired list and his active army service will end.

Following a visit to his sister and her son at the old home in Lincoln, Neb. after retirement, Pershing will pitch again into the work of shaping up his long-awaited history and memoirs of the World War.

Had Frank Lowden not refused the Republican nomination for vice president, Clem Shaver, Democratic national chairman in charge of the Davis-Bryan campaign, would have had the chance of his life to "get even."

Not that Clem has anything personal against Lowden. He hasn't. But he has an awful grudge against Pullman cars.

And as Lowden, through his wife, who as a daughter of George Pullman, inherited a large interest in the sleeping-car business, he inherited also a considerable part of Shaver's animosity.

Shaver's job of running a national campaign is complicated by the fact that he simply cannot sleep on trains. No matter how sleepy he may be, as soon as he is shut in behind the swaying curtains of a Pullman boudoir he loses all ability to slumber.

The best he ever gets out of it as a fitful night-mareish doze, which leaves him more tired than before.

As a result, Shaver will stick rather close to Washington and national Democratic headquarters during the campaign. Where impersonal mea-sages won't do, he'll send out a lieutenant.

To such extent as he can use a radio or airplane in long-distance managing, he may utilize them. But the fewer overnight trips via Pullman the better Shaver will like it.

By contrast, William Butler who tried to have Lowden picked as running mate for Coolidge and who is running the Coolidge-Dawes bandwagon, dearly loves Pullman travel. He jumps about the country with the same gay abandon exhibited by Will Hays, the boy prodigy from Indiana four years ago.

Butler makes overnight jumps at least once or twice a week between Chicago and New York, Washington and Chicago and Chicago and Boston. And he says he doesn't expect to do much sitting still between now and the first of November.

And sleep? Why, on a train is about the only chance he gets to sleep!

The one party without a candidate in the campaign this fall is the National Woman's party. To decide what is to be done about this situation, an "election conference" of Woman's party leaders has been called for Westport, N. Y., August 15-17.

Alice Paul, of Washington, who issued the call for the conference, says the old parties are not nominating enough women for Congress.

The Westport meeting will undertake to determine what is to be done about this. Women candidates for Congress on a Woman's party ticket may result.

MORNING GRAIN LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.) CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Liquidation of small holdings of wheat is under way simply because of a period of quiet in export trade and not because of any change in fundamentals. World's conditions determine the price, then purchases are logical. The entire surplus of all export crops, Canadian report will strengthen the foreign markets.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.) NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The vice-president of the American Woolen company issues a very bullish statement, dealing mainly with the woolen industry but of importance to all business because of one particular big point that he makes, for Europe they are bare of supplies. If so, this must be true of other lines and is the result of the hard-to-mouth buying policy about which we heard so much a few months ago. The cables report a lot of visiting among the conference representatives—the Germans, the French and the Belgians. This is very good. It means success. A wonderful outlook and money remains cheap which, of course, spells higher prices in the stock market.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

(By The Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Wheat took a decided upward swing in price early today, influenced by strength of Liverpool quotations and by a bullish construction placed on the Canadian government crop report. The opening ranged from 1.1 to 1.23 cents higher. Cold weather temperatures tended to lift the corn market. Corn opened 1-8 to 7-8 cents higher. Oats started 1-4 to 3-4 cents up. Lower quotations on hogs weakened the provision market.

RUHR QUESTION BEING THRESHED OUT IN PRIVATE

Evacuation Issue Occupies Attention of Leading Delegations

(By The Associated Press.) LONDON, Aug. 12.—The Ruhr evacuation question, disposal of which is necessary before the international conference can proceed in a definite way with the program for instituting the Dawes reparation plan, is being threshed out in private interviews between the leading delegations of Germany and the allied nations. The French premier, M. Herriot, is supposed to have returned from his Paris trip with authority to agree to the evacuation within eleven months but the question of when the withdrawal is to take place and the details of its execution remains to be settled. With this matter also is bound up the decision regarding the desire of the French and Belgians to retain a number of their men in the Rhineland railway regime while the Dawes plan is operating. The Germans are insistent in their demand that the railways be turned back under an all-German status.

Reports from all three committees of the conference have been agreed to in principle and the opinion seems general that the outcome will be definitely settled by Thursday or Friday. As a result of exchanges of views in London banking circles yesterday, says the Daily Telegraph, the interest rate on the proposed loan to Germany under the Dawes plan is generally computed at 7 per cent. and the issue price at 93 while the underwriting will cover 91-1-3 per cent.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Prevalence of bullish sentiment continued to govern the trend of stock prices at the opening of the market. Most of the leading stocks, including Bethlehem Steel, suffered fractional recessions. Absorption of seasoned dividend paying rail shares proceeded briskly, sending New York Central, Southern Pacific and Big Four in new 1924 high records, the latter jumping four points. High priced shares scored the widest gains as the limited floating supply of these issues induced brisk bidding. Popular industries such as U. S. Steel, American Can, Studer, Bethlehem Steel, and others, suffered fractional recessions. RY. SHARES SUPERSEDE INDUSTRIALS AGAIN

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Railroad shares have again superseded the industrials as the center of speculative interest. Subsidence of the brisk demand for the stocks of the carriers likely to become a part of the new Nickel Plate system in order to permit a more careful study of the exchange ratios recently disclosed in the preliminary terms of consolidation has been followed by a re-awakening of interest in the western southwestern roads which have been mentioned in reports of mergers in those territories. Rock Island, Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific and the Wabash issues have been under accumulation in this connection. Reports of increased car loadings by western carriers also have influenced the buying of these shares.

County Dog Wins Praise In Journal

Dog fanciers in Danville will be interested in the following notice which appears in the current issue of "Game and Fish," a monthly publication devoted to the interest of sportsmen in Virginia and published by W. McDonald Lee, fish and game commissioner. It relates to "Sport Hyki," a fine setter owned by W. G. Hundley, of Callands. The notice follows:

We have heard a great deal about the Gleam blood which is much sought after by many setter breeders. Sport Hyki, owned by W. G. Hundley, of Callands, Va., is known as the Gleam setter of today, having four crosses of Gleam blood. Sport is a grandson of Marne Ben and Susie S., and is truly a wonderfully bred dog throughout. To take a five-generation pedigree of Sport Hyki and study it carefully one finds about all to be desired in setter breeding. His sire is Domoko Ben Titus, who was by Marne Ben ex Susie S. His dam is Sport Whitestone's Queen, who was by Sport Whitestone ex Lady's Ct. Chance.

Sport Hyki has won six times in field trials, and as a producer has proven most valuable; his get are real bird dogs of the correct type as is shown by the picture of his son Sport Hyki's Jack. Mr. Hundley is offering the dog at public stud for the very moderate fee of $25.00 and we are quite sure Virginia sportsmen will take advantage of this offer and get the blood that produces good level-headed bird dogs with brains and stamina.

John T. Owen Left $18,000 Estate

(By The Associated Press.) LYNCHBURG, Va., Aug. 12.—The will of John T. Owen, broker, who committed suicide last week by shooting himself, probated in the circuit court yesterday afternoon disposes of an estate of $18,000. Bequests of $1,000 each were made to William Owen, McMillan, Thomas Harvey McMillan and John Oser McMillan, all of Charleston, W. Va., $1,000 to Weigand Wagner, of Baltimore; $10,000 to Mrs. George T. McDaniel, of Lynchburg; $1,000 to George T. McDaniel, $1,000 to John P. Boyle, of Lynchburg and his half interest in the firm of Owen and Barker to W. Carey Barker, his partner.

DEATHWATCH BEETLES

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Death-watch beetles are ravaging historic buildings, the pews of ancient churches, roofs, floors, farm houses, barns and other buildings in and near London. Representatives of the Imperial College of Science are combating the injurious insects with whole hordes of other cannibal beetles.

The "carrion plant," an English jungled growth, has a strong smell of tainted meat, which attracts flies to it. St. Elmo's fire, the flame-like appearance seen in stormy weather in the rigging of vessels and on lofty terrestrial objects, is nearly akin to lightning.

Beer is being sent from New York to the rum fleet and the United States may start exporting liquor soon.
